

Collage Game

Step-by-Step Instructions:

1. Before class:
  - a. Decide how many groups you want to divide the participants into; you will need one poster board for each group.
  - b. Take each poster board and tape or glue several pictures on each one. Essentially, you are making collages. Each board can be just one theme. For example, you can have one that represents nature and one that represents cars. Or you can have several different pictures on each board.
  - c. Tape the posters to the wall in various sections of the room.
2. When you are ready to begin, ask participants to stand up and walk around the room and look at the collage posters.
3. After allowing a minute or two to look at the posters, ask participants to pick which poster they are most drawn to by standing next to it and placing a finger on it.
4. Before they pick, limit the number in each group by only allowing so many people to pick the same poster. Explain that if someone chooses a poster after it is already “full” they will need to pick another one quickly.
5. At this point you can have groups discuss why they picked the picture they did (builds group cohesion) or you can have them complete other group tasks.

Title: Collage Game

Group Size: 10 to 15; can also be done simultaneously with several groups of this size

Time Needed: 5 to 20 minutes

Goal: To build group cohesion and/or to break your class into smaller groups

Audience: Parents, Couples, Teens, Children, Singles

Special Considerations: With two facilitators, both should spend time working on the posters.

Resources Needed:

- ✓ Posterboard
- ✓ Tape or glue
- ✓ Scissors
- ✓ Pictures from magazines and newspapers

Tips for Discussion and Processing

If you need to break your large group up into smaller groups this can be a fun way to do that. It can also be a great way for participants just to get to know each other better.
